

SECURITY IS OUR BUSINESS... AND YOURS.

WE PROTECT WHAT MATTERS.

OccamSec provides end-to-end information security services to help you find, address, and minimize your exposure to cybersecurity threats.

Using decades of security experience across military, government, and commercial entities, along with advanced testing techniques, constant surveillance of the latest criminal methods, machine learning analytics, and purpose-built solutions, we take action to protect your business before criminals find a way in. Or, if they already have, we empower you to recover quickly and effectively.

WHAT WE DO.

PROTECT

Continuous, tailored assessment of your defenses identifies weak points so you can mitigate them before they can be exploited. Our combination of expert penetration testing, threat identification, customized simulations, and intelligence services help prevent incidents before they happen.

TAKE AN END-TO-END APPROACH.

The massive cybersecurity breaches, like SolarWinds and FireEye, make the news, but it's the constant attacks from bad actors attempting to access data, deploy ransomware, and wreak havoc that consumes your resources and keeps you in a reactive posture. We understand how this threatens your business, and we know how attackers operate.

Our end-to-end information security services enable you to regain a positive security posture by hardening attack surfaces, closing security gaps, and reducing the risk of incidents.

That's why security teams at the world's most recognized brands across media, finance, technology, education, healthcare, energy, and other industries trust OccamSec.
